COMPANY HISTORY

In 1990, after many years of growing wine grapes for other wineries throughout California, the Kautz family commenced the construction on a winery of their own.

They chose to build on this property, that was, and is a working Polled Hereford cattle ranch. The property was previously owned by Bauer Kramer, Mrs. Kautz's father.

In the middle of the property the large rock formation was turned into the caverns for aging barrels of wine. As the miners were blasting and carving away at the rock, they declared that the rock was "like iron". From this the name Ironstone was conceived.

Ironstone Vineyards is now on of the top 10 family-owned wineries in California with wine distribution in all 50 states and over 50 international markers.
